Britt Chic

Laura Britt, interior designer and founder of Austin's Laura Britt Design, had a mission. "We needed a source for sustainable furniture for our own studio, but we couldn't find one."

So, three years ago, Britt launched Vervano—a sleek, elegant line of sustainable furniture for the home. Handmade in the United States, Vervano is eco-friendly down to the smallest detail: Materials include organic cotton, walnut certified by the Forest Stewardship Council, and low-impact pigments and dyes. Vervano's new

Wells dining table not only sustainable, but stylish. Cantilevered off the walnut base, the hand-hewn metal top seems to defy gravity, which means this is one dining room table that manages to be functional while looking good. It's available in custom lengths and in maple. 911 W. 29th St., 512.458.8963, laurabritt.com -HT
